NOVA SCOTIA LETTER.

The Oldest Part of Canada—Story of the Acadians Beautifully Told.

Sir Chas. Tupper a Descendant of the Puritans—Oldest Officeholder in the World.

Leaving Halifax for a while I have taken a trip to my old home, the Annapolis Valley. This is the historical land, par excellence of Canada, and the land made so famous by Longfellow in his "Evangeline." In this letter I am going to eschew news and tell the readers a little about the oldest part of Canada, for Annapolis under the name of Port Royal was founded before ever a white man set his foot upon the heights of Quebec. Here is the scene of the expulsion of the Acadians and the remnants of their occupation may still be seen in the tall poplars on the high lands and the fringes of willows by the brooks, or as one of our local poets has put it:

"And many a traveller has found,
As thoughtlessly he strayed,
Some long forgotten cellar
In the deepest thickets' shade,
And clumps of willows by the dykes,
Sweet scented, fair and green,
That seemed to tell again the tale
Of sweet Evangeline."

Silent mementoes of a race long since vanished from the land. And this "Garden of Nova Scotia" is a pretty country. It has no mountains with their snow-white peaks rising in rugged grandeur to the skies, but for quiet, historical beauty such as the English poets have loved to portray, it is unequalled. It lies between the North and South Mountains (hills, you in British Columbia would call them) on the north and south, and Minas Basin and Annapolis Basin on the east and west. It is the most favored portion of the year now, too, when the fields are rich with waving grain not yet tinted, and the dyked lands "stretching afar and unfenced o'er the plain" are a waving mass of green here and there starred by bright colored flowers. Had Longfellow but seen it as it lies now, rich in the gorgeousness of summer, he would have excelled himself. It is now two hundred and fifty years since the French began to colonize this country. They prospered so well that as early as the beginning of the Eighteenth century they had wheat enough for home consumption and nine hundred hogsheads for export. Then came the wars between the French and English, staining with blood the otherwise bright picture of rural felicity, culminating in the world known expulsion of the Acadians in 1755, a fact so little considered by the authorities of that time that Gov. Lawrence did not think it worth while to notice it in his communications to the Board of Trade in London. From 24th Dec, 1754, to 5th Aug., 1756, there is nothing but a victualling return. What seemed to them unimportant has put an indelible stain on British rule in America. It has been a favored theme of debate as to whether the expulsion was justifiable or not and a great deal has been written on both sides, all coming to about this conclusion: They would not take the oath of allegiance; they gave aid and succor to the French and so forced the little body of British colonists, in self defence, and from fear of extermination, to take harsh measures for their own protection. So far, on a cool examination of history, the British seem to have been in the right. But the fault seems rather to have been in the way it was done. As the Scottish earl said after the battle of Pinkie, fought to force a marriage between Edward II of England and young Mary of Scotland, "He disliked na the match, but he hated themanner of woing." So in this case it was not so much the thing itself, done in time of war and in self-preservation, but it was the way it was carried out. They had been told they would be expelled, but they were never told they would be strowed along the inhospitable shores of New England in the fall of the year, with the cold winter coming on, to rest on the tender mercies of the New England Puritans, chill and hard as the rocks along their shores, who looked on their nation with contempt, their language as a crime, and their religion as a blasphemy. Instead of this they had been told that they would be sent to their fellow-countrymen in France or Quebec, and if that had been done, although it would have been a harsh measure, it would not have been called justifiable. However it was carried out and the soft French language is heard no more along the medows of Acadia. A few came back to Nova Scotia and settled along the bleak shores of the Atlantic near Halifax and anyone can see on any market day their descendants there. The majority went south and settled in quiet obscurity in Louisiana from which obscurity they have been lately resurrected by the novelist George W. Cable, by his dialect stories of the Acadians in the pages of the Century Magazine.

So much for the French. The most of their cattle died during the winter which followed. What survived were driven through to the southern shore by the Germans of Lunenburg. The fields grew green, then brown, but no sound of living was heard throughout the land. So was it for five years.

"Five years in desolation the Acadian land had lain,
Five golden harvest moons had wooed the fallow fields in vain,
Five times the winter snows caressed, and summer sunsets smiled
On lonely clumps of willows and fruit trees growing wild.

"There was silence in the valley, and along the Minas shore,
And not a habitation from Canard to Beaubasson,
But many a ruined cellar, and many a broken wall,
Told the story of Acadia's prosperity and fall."

Then the Puritans of New England came down and settled in the land. The country was divided into townships and each settler in the townships got one or more shares according to his importance. Each share entitled him to one lot in the town plot, to 44 acres in what was known as the 44-acre division, to 1 lot in the 100 acre division and one in the 400 acre division; the last two being technically known as "pitches," because they were allowed to "pitch" them anywhere in the unappropriated land of the township by being surveyed by the appointed "lot layers." They came in several detachments and the old grants are still extant in the office of the registrar of deeds. Their local affairs were administered as in Massachusetts and traces of it are still noticeable. Still the old proprietors meeting is gone and the only one still remaining, in the township of Cornwallis, of the old proprietors is the old clerk of the township, Hon. Samuel Chipman, hale and hearty at the age of 99 years. He was registrar of deeds till June of this year when he was superannuated. He was then the oldest officeholder in the world.

These people here are continually confounded with the United Empire Loyalists, but as they came here 17 years before the American Revolution it will be easily seen that it was hardly their loyalty that induced them to colonize Acadia. Many of their descendants have made their mark in the history of Canada such as Sir Charles Tupper, K. C. B., George W. Burbidge, Judge of the Exchequer Court, Hon. Samuel Chipman, Rev. Ingraham E. Bill, author of a History of the Baptists, Rev. Silas T. Rand, missionary to the Micmacs and others. Those that settled around Grand Pre still show that they are true sons of Connecticut for, to the tourists which yearly surge through the valley exploring "Evangeline's land," they show, with all the complacency in the world, the site of the forge of Basil the Blacksmith. The site of the house where Benedict and Bellefontaine lived and the land he tilled, and even the glebe that the men broke up for Gabrial before the time of the marriage. They kept well up in Longfellow, even making it, in some cases, a text book in the school and they make it pay. That poem which tells that pathetic story of "Woman's Devotion" has had a very practical effect on the place and has enabled many to carry out Iago's advice, "Put money to thy purse," and the guileless descendent of the Connecticut Yankee deposits the available shekels of Tourist America in his trousers pockets, talks Evangeline and winks with his off eye.

Well I guess (notice the effect of descent) I had better stop for the time or your readers will get tired of my prosing about Acadia. So for the present we will bid farewell to the "Acadian Land on the Shores of the basin of Minas."

SKEENA UPRISING.

Gen. Middletop can Place 5000 Men on the Cars for B. C. in Twenty-four Hours.

A New Brunswick Village on Fire—200 People Homeless—Fire Spreading.

UNDULY EXCITED.

Ottawa, July 19.—There has been considerable activity in the military department during the past few days, owing to the threatening state of affairs among the Indians along the Skeena river. General Middleton says in twenty four hours he can place 5,000 men on the cars en route for British Columbia, if necessary.

THE SEAL FISHERY.

Ottawa, July 19—It is reported that the United States has signified its willingness to agree to England's proposition, made nearly a year ago for the appointment of a mixed commission to adjust the claims for damages made by the owners of the seized Behring seal fishing schooners.

A VILLAGE IN FLAMES.

Woodstock, N. B., July 19—Grafton, opposite Woodstock, is in flames. Two hundred people are homeless. The fire is spreading and the entire village seems doomed.

THE R. R. V. ROAD.

Winnipeg, July 19—Premier Greenway and Hon. Joseph Morton left for Chicago to day to meet General Manager Oakes, of the Northern Pacific, and sign an agreement made by the railroad and the Provincial Government, by which the Northern Pacific purchased the Red River Valley road.

CABLE NEWS.

DESPERATE RESISTANCE.

Dublin, July 19.—Wholesale evictions on the Vandalom estate, West Clare, which were to have been inaugurated yesterday, were prevented by the people destroying the bridges between the towns of Kilrush and Killkee. The evictors were unable to reach the scene of the proposed eviction. Bells in the chapels in the neighborhood tolled today.

THE POPE.

Rome, July 19—The Pope, in a conversation, stated that he does not intend to leave Rome. He expressed regret that his last note to the Irish clergy in regard to the political situation should have been misinterpreted.

ATTEMPT TO ROB.

Mr. Pellitier Talks With Mr. Burglar—The Thief Escapes.

After closing his place of business on Wednesday morning Mr. John Pellitier meandered to his home on Fisgard street, between Douglas and Blanchard. On entering the kitchen after removing his shoes, he noticed a man crouched up against the wall outside the kitchen window. Mr. Pellitier asked the intruder "what are you doing there." "Oh," says the man, "I'm looking for a dog." Mr. Pellitier then grabbed a stick and started out to hold an interview in close quarters with the intruder. The man ran to the front gate, followed by Mr. Pellitier, and escaped. It was found that the spring lock on the gate was tampered with, and everything prepared to burglarize the house. Last night a man resembling the burglar entered Messrs. Stein's restaurant and asked for change for a twenty dollar piece. Mr. Pellitier followed him outside the door, but lost track of him in the streets.

Funeral of Captain Greenwood.

The remains of the late Captain Greenwood were laid at rest this afternoon at 4 o'clock. The funeral took place from the residence, Pandora avenue, and was attended by a large concourse of friends of deceased. The casket was covered with wreaths of beautiful flowers. Rev. Donald Fraser officiated at the residence and at the cemetery. The following gentlemen were pall-bearers: W. P. Sayward, T. Hendry, F. Campbell, R. T. Williams, T. Shotbolt and C. Morley.

The purchase of the Duluth, South Shore & Atlantic road by the Canadian Pacific is a sad blow to the aspirations of the Grand Trunk in the Northwest, and British Columbia as its proposed connection westward from the "Soo" is cut off.

CHICAGO ANARCHISTS.

A Full Confession Rendered by One of the Prisoners—The Others Sent Up.

Daring Deed of a Smuggler—He Jumps from a Train and Escapes—Accident.

THE THREE BY SAMITERS.

Chicago, July 19—The three anarchists, Chapek, Chebowa and Kronek, arrested by Inspector Bonfield yesterday, are booked at the Armory. Their cases will come up to-day and be continued to Monday. The evidence against them will be presented to the grand jury and they will be indicted under the dynamite act. No more arrests were made to-day. No further details of the big plot have been made public.

ANOTHER MURDERER SWINGS.

Freehold, N. Y., July 18—Richard Kearney was hanged this morning for the murder of Mrs. Margaret Purcell, his aged house-keeper in February last at Long Branch.

DYNAMITERS' WORK.

Sacramento, July 19—News has been brought into town of the destruction of the blacksmith shop opposite the farm of H. G. Shoule, three miles east of here, by dynamite on Tuesday night. The Shoule family have been subjected to persecution in the shape of bombs for over six weeks, but up to Tuesday night no serious damage has been done. Detectives have secured fragments of bombs and they are said to be such as were exploded by dynamiters in Chicago, having been made of lead pipe filled with explosive material and supplied with caps. Three times the blacksmith shop, which is located thirty yards from the house, has been fired by projectiles. The members of the family are in a state of abject terror, and are worn out with watching for the miscreats who have known no cause for such violent conduct, as the family is one of the quietest in the valley.

FOUR PEOPLE KILLED.

Duluth, Minn., July 19—By a collision on the Iron Range road yesterday near here, between an oil train and a caboose of an accommodation train, two women and a child in the caboose and the engineer were killed. Several others were badly injured.

A FULL CONFESSION.

Chicago, July 19.—Cheiboma, one of the three arrested Anarchists, is reported this morning to have made a full confession of the entire conspiracy to murder Judges Garry and Grinnell and Inspector Bonfield. He says that Kronek unfolded the plan for the revenge of the dead anarchists and told him of a bomb he had invented, but denied the plot was to murder the judge and police inspector. At least he had never heard of any such scheme.

By his confession it is understood that Chelebowa has virtually secured immunity from prosecution. He is in reality much less guilty than either Kronek, Chepok or any of the men not yet arrested. He has agreed to give his testimony in open court where it will corroborate other evidence secured by the Inspector against the conspirators.

SENT UP FOR TRIAL.

Chicago, July 19—The government rested their case this morning in the Burlington conspiracy cases, and after both sides summing up Gooding, Broderick and Bauereun were held for the action of the grand jury in the sum of $5,000 each.

AN INDIAN TREATY.

Washington, July 19—In the Senate to-day the House Bill to accept and ratify an agreement with the Shoshone and Bannock Indians on the Fort Hall reservation, Idaho, was reported and passed without amendment.

THE EDUCATIONAL CONVENTION.

San Francisco, July 15—There was no falling off noticeable in attendance when the fourth session of the national educational association convention was called to order a few minutes after nine o'clock this morning. After prayer the convention immediately proceeded to take up the theme for the discussion of session, viz: "Current criticism of the public school system and what answer." The first paper was read by John W. Cook of Normal, Illinois, entitled "Schools fail to cultivate the religious sentiment or to teach morality." Lizzie J. Martin, of Indianapolis, followed in a very able paper—"they fail to give a reasonable mastery of the subjects studied." John P. Irish, of this city, closed the papers, taking as his subject, "Failure of public schools to give proper preparation for active life." A very animated and interesting discussion followed which was participated in by Thomas Morgan, of Providence, Ira Moore, of Los Angeles, Jerome Allen, of New York, and others.

DARING ACT OF A SMUGGLER.

Port Huron, Mich., July 19—Last night Tabelle, the opium smuggler, while being taken back to Indianapolis leaped from the train near Upton, got into a boat waiting for him and was rowed back to Canada. The officers say the whole scheme was prearranged.

THE COLORED PEOPLE'S CONVENS.

Washington, July 19—A call has been issued for an independent convention of colored men to be held at Indianapolis next week. It announces that it is independent of all party influences, and for the purpose of a free conference of colored voters as to their duty during the coming campaign. It is stated, however, that the convention will declare for the Democratic ticket. Owing to the promulgation of this fact, the colored Republicans are understood to be getting up a counter movement, and will hold a similar convention at Indianapolis the week following.

HEAVY BURGLARY.

Providence, R. I., July 19—H. B. Aymers, of East Warren, N. J., had his summer residence at Wickford, R. I., burglarized last night. A large quantity of solid silver and $15,000 in certificates of stock were stolen. No clue.

Duelling in France.

That the head of the French Government and the man who is trying to be the head should meet, with the approbation of all their associates, to violate the laws of their country is a striking comment upon the superiority of custom over statute. Civil law commands it, and social law is obeyed. It is the same in Germany, where officers who refuse to disobey the army regulations by accepting challenges are dismissed from the service in disgrace.

The incident will rise Boulanger in public estimation. It shows that he is not entirely a humbug. He take his honor so seriously that he is willing to risk his life in its defence. Of course, according to American ideas, the whole system of dueling is barbarous, but it has its redeeming features. It is better than the custom of "shooting on sight" in a crowd, with the usual result of shooting somebody uninterested in the quarrel.

Boulanger evidently feels the recent decline in his popularity and is determined to bring himself again into prominence. He was elected as the representative of discontent. Things were going wrong and he promised to set them right. He has changed nothing so far, and his support is falling away from him. The elections in the four departments, which he has announced his intention to contest, will show whether the people are patient enough to trust him until he can do something.

SPORTING NEWS.

Suggestions About Baseball, Sporting and Firemen's Tournaments.

To morrow afternoon at 4 o'clock, the New Westminster team will cross bats with the Amities, provided the steamer Bithet arrives in time. The visiting team has a reputation for being hard to beat having won two games from Vancouver this summer. Victorians will have a chance to see some good ball playing and it is hoped that they will encourage the home team by their presence in large numbers. A telegram was received from Vancouver to-day stating that the baseball team from that city would be unable to play here until Monday. The games with Vancouver will therefore be played on Monday and Tuesday, one with the James Bay Club and the other with the Amities. Considerable interest is taken in these games, as a regular baseball fever has struck the mainland cities, and since the defeat of the James Bays on Dominion Day in Vancouver, they are anxious to measure bats with the strongest teams in the Province. New Westminster has strengthened its team considerably lately by the addition of several Eastern Canadian players and a very interesting contest may be expected. Following are the Amity players and their positions in the game against New Westminster: G. Borthwick, catcher; T. Baker, pitcher; S. D. Schultz, first base; Gus Gowen, second base; Geo. Gowen, third base; N. Gowen, short-stop; W. Duck, left field; T. Burnes, center field; J. Hannan, right field; umpire, Mr. T. Edwards.

A racing cart for the New Westminster hose team arrived last night. The Victoria hose team are still practicing and it is proposed to induce the citizens to raise funds for a firemen's tournament in this city during the exhibition. Teams will come from Vancouver, New Westminster, Nanaimo, Seattle and Spokane Falls if prizes are offered. The tournament would take place on our principal streets and crowds of visitors would accompany the respective teams.

Richard K. Fox on the 16th, cabled Peter Kemp, the champion caramb of the world, at Sydney, Australia, that if he would come to America and row John Teemer, the American champion, for the Police Gazette champion challenge cup, he (Fox) would give a purse of $5,000 and allow Kemp $1,000 expenses. The race is to be rowed in the fall on suitable water under conditions to be mutually agreed upon, and for the single-scull championship of the world.

Final arrangements have been made for a prize fight for the heavy-weight colored championship of the world, between Peter Jackson, champion of New South Wales, and George Godfrey of Boston, colored champion of America. The articles of agreement stipulated that the fight shall be according to the Police Gazette rules, with two-ounce gloves, for a purse of $1,500, of which $1,200 is to go to the winner and $800 to the loser. Godfrey will also receive $400 for expenses incurred in going to San Francisco.

Donald Dinnie, once so well known in professional athletics in Scotland, the North of England and America, has been posing as a model to a Melbourne sculptor, Percival Ball. The sculptor has a commission to produce a statue of Wallace, the hero of Scotland, for the Botanical gardens of the city of Ballarat, and the stalwart Donald is the model.

The Prince of Wales' prize at Wimbledon has been carried off by A. Sarry, a volunteer, with a score of 101. Gillies, of the Ninetieth, made 97 for the same prize last year.

A London dispatch of the 17th instant says the Canadians made excellent scores at Wimbledon to-day, winning a large number of prizes in minor contests. The Kolapore contest will take place to-morrow, Great Britain, Canada, Guernsey and Jersey competing. The weather is still wet and unpleasant.

A proposition is on foot in Kamloops to hold a grand baseball tournament there in September. It is proposed to offer $500 in prizes, which, it is thought, will have the effect of bringing together all the baseball clubs in the province, as well as a number from the territories and from across the line.

There is no reason why Victoria should not have its grand sporting tournament every autumn. There are plenty of excellent parks for horse racing, and Beacon Hill cannot be beaten for every other kind of sports. There should be a big tournament when the exhibition comes off this fall, and it is time to prepare for it in order that it may be done on a grand scale.

THE BUS LINE.

What Some People Complain About—How to Make It Pay.

Several complaints are being made of the action of the Transfer Company in withdrawing their busses from Douglas and Fort streets without giving a moment's warning. The consequence is that those who have purchased tickets in advance, at the rate of 15 cents each, have so much dead stock on their hands. It is presumed, however, that the Company intend to replace the busses, or, if not, to take steps to redeem their tickets. There is no reason why the line should be withdrawn if some effort is made to accommodate the masses of the people. A fare of ten cents was too large in the first place and to raise it to 15 cents was certainly false economy. Railway and street car lines, like newspapers, must be operated for the benefit of the masses, and unless they can be placed within the reach of all they cannot hope to succeed. A street car line which would place its fare at 5 cents, say from the outskirts of the city to the postoffice, and thus make it possible for people to ride on it four times a day without spending half their earnings would, it is believed, work up a paying business.

THE NEWFOUNDLAND SEIZURES.

The Dominion is very much interested in the fishery trouble which has been precipitated by the seizure of two French vessels by the Newfoundland cruisers. The fisherman of this helpless colony have been persistantly robbed of their bread for years by these gready foreigners and the injustice of it has never been half considered by the Imperial government.

It is not surprising that Newfoundland should at last make a determined stand for her rights. Here is the case in a nutshell. The people of the colony are as a whole wretchedly poor, and they inhabit one of the poorest and most unattractive countries outside of the Polar regions. There is very little timber on the island, it has a long and exceedingly severe winter and its agriculture is limited to almost potatoes and oats. But the sea to these hardy islanders is their farm, and nature, as if in compensation for denying them every almost every other bounty and blessing, would seem to have desired, to especially favor them in respect to almost the one industry, that of fishing, that is open to them. Here live the fish that constitute a desirable and cheap food for the people of other countries. Here naturally come the "capelin," the "herring" and the "squid," which constitute the bait that is essential for deep-sea fishing. Here are the only harbors and inlets for shelter and repair, and for renewing supplies of ice and fuel. What more natural than that these Newfoundland people, restricted to one industry as a means of earning their living, should jealously guard their sole natural privileges, and desire to make the most of them? And why should they not? Has not the great people of the south of them taught them this policy for years by precept and example? Is not the whole present fiscal and commercial policy of the United States based on the principle that what they have got they mean to keep exclusively, and what other people have got they mean to get if they can? The whole of the fishery questions resolve themselves into this, shall the people of Newfoundland and for that matter the Dominion of Canada have a right to control the natural resources and advantages which have come to them in virtue of undisputed territorial possession, and decide in what manner they shall be used, especially by people of other countries?

The election in Russell County, Ont., on Saturday has resulted in the return of Mr. FISHER, the liberal candidate, by a majority of 250. Mr. FISHER has been a candidate for parliamentary honors at least on three occasions and has each time been defeated by very close figures. This time he managed to "get there" with a triumphant majority.

The London Standard has an editorial most complimentary to Canada from the view of Saturday's banquet. It says that Englishmen will echo Lord Lansdowne's and Lord Knutsford's congratulations to Canada, comments on the enormous resources of the Dominion, and adds that Canada's greatest advantage is her position. She sits astride of the civilized world with territories lying on the very track of one of the greatest commerces of the future.

General ANNENKOFF, the projector of the Russian Central Asian Railway, was at great pains to explain to Mr. STEAD of the Pall Mall Gazette how convenient that road could be made to the British government if the authorities in India would only construct a line through Candahar to meet a branch of the Russian road which has its terminus at Herat. If the Russian line was thus made continuous to British India the General would undertake to deliver reliefs—officers and men—for India at Candahar in nine days after leaving London. The Russian General evidently expected that the British journalist would be delighted at the prospect of being able to send troops to India with such dispatch. It did not appear to occur to him that an Englishman would naturally conclude that if the Central Asian road could convey reinforcements to the British forces in India in so short a time it could be used much more readily in transporting a Russian army to Afghanistan or the Indian frontier in a considerably shorter time. The communicative general's explanations were not, we think, calculated to give unalloyed pleasure to a thoughtful subject of Queen Victoria who desires that she may retain peaceful possession of her dominions in Asia. Russia is ambitious, and the time may come when the British in India may find her a very unpleasant neighbor. And the existence of the Central Asian line may add very greatly to the unpleasantness.

BOARD OF ALDERMEN.

Numerous Communications --- Complaints of Scarcity of Water.

The regular weekly meeting of the Board of Aldermen was called to order at 8:10 last evening by His Worship Mayor Grant. Present: Aldermen Powell, Coughlan, Kelly, Vigelius, Styles and Penwill.

Minutes of previous meeting read and on motion adopted.

COMMUNICATIONS.

From Hon. A. N. Richards, Q. C., Police Magistrate, enclosing a letter from the Attorney-General re fines received under certain sections of the Indian Act. The communication stated that all such monies should be paid to the Provincial Government. The communication was referred to the City Barrister.

Ald. Coughlan could not understand why this matter was brought up at the present time. The fines went to the city for some years and the speaker said he understood the matter was rooted up by the police magistrate. It was a question whether the Magistrate was doing his duty by bringing this question to the notice of the government.

Ald. Vigelius did not consider it proper to deprive the city of fines imposed. The police and police magistrate are paid by the city and the fines should go into the city treasury.

Ald. Styles and Powell agreed with the last speaker.

From Messrs. Drake Jackson & Helmcken requesting the corporation to refund the fine received from John Begg. This money should be placed in the Bank of British Columbia to the credit of the Dominion Government.

From A. N. Richards, on the same subject. Referred to the City Barristers.

From W. P. Sayward, regarding the drainage of his property on Fernwood road. Referred to Street Committee.

From L. G. McQuade, asking for street lines on Vancouver street. Ordered to be given by the City Surveyor.

From T. R. Smith, assistant commissioner H. B. Company, regarding the discontinuance of the supply of water to the company without notice. Referred to Water Committee and Water Commissioner.

From W. P. Sayward, asking for a portion of Johnson street for building purposes. Granted.

From M. Hamber, asking for a portion of Johnson street and Waddington alley for building purposes. Granted.

From T. Cullen, applying to purchase a quantity of stones for foundation purposes. Referred to Street Committee.

From F G Walker, stating that he was instructed by John Winger to ask the Council for $1,500 for damages sustained by falling into a plug hole on Yates street. If the claim is not settled Mr. Walker is instructed to sue for damages. Mr. Winger was in the hospital since last January.

Ald. Vigelius said the unfortunate man was in the hospital since last January and the communication should be referred to a committee.

His Worship said he saw the accident, which occurred in front of Mr. Langley's building on Yates street, occupied by THE TIMES Publishing Company. His Worship said he conveyed the man home in a carriage and saw that his knee-cap was broken. He was then taken to the hospital.

The communication was referred to the Finance Committee.

From J D Pemberton and B W Pearse, Commissioners, informing the Council that a stone monument was erected at corner of Humboldt and Douglas streets. Received and spread on the minutes.

From W. S. Gore, enclosing a copy of a letter from the Warden asking for a better supply of water in the Provincial goal. Referred to the Water Committee and Water Commissioner to report.

Ald. Kelly said a 2½ inch pipe was sufficient. Yates street with about 1000 people received water through a 2 inch pipe.

From W. H. Smith calling attention to a drain on Cook street which was filled up by the men laying water pipes. Referred to Water Committee.

From T. Catterell, asking for the use of a portion of Government street for building purposes. Granted.

From W. S. Gore, enclosing a letter from Mr. Stanton, private secretary, regarding the inadequate supply of water at Government House. Referred to Water Committee and Commissioner.

From J. P. Burgess, complaning about the supply of water on Spring Ridge. Referred to Water Committee and Commissioner.

From H. Brown, on behalf of Mrs. White on the same subject. Referred to Committee and Commissioner.

MONTHLY ACCOUNTS.

For the month of June amounting to $8,228 33 were referred to the Finance Committee.

BY-LAW.

The Bank Credit By-Law was read a second time. The amount to be overdrawn from the bank will be $50,000.

NOTICE OF MOTION.

Ald. Powell gave notice to introduce a by-law to borrow $125,000 for the use of the Corporation. Leave was granted to introduce the by-laws which were read a first time. The time for voting on the by-laws was fixed at eleven days after the insertion of the by-laws in the newspapers.

Mr. W. K. Bull was appointed to act as Returning Officer and it was decided to vote on the by-laws on Monday, the 30th instant.

MISCELLANEOUS.

Ald. Coughlan moved that the Water Commissioner be provided with a telephone. Seconded and carried.

Ald. Styles read a complaint from the Superintendent of Police, stating that the electric light was extinguished too soon in the morning; also that Constables who sleep in the barracks complain of the noise made by the horses stabled in the Tiger house. Referred to the Police Committee.

The Mayor reported that all the houses had not been numbered by the contractor and in one or two cases on the other side of Spring Ridge, the streets had not been named.

Ald. Powell thought something should be done to remove the old buildings which fell down back of the Railroad Hotel. Referred to the Fire Warden.

Ald. Powell also said steps should be taken towards shutting up the notorious houses of Chinese prostitutes on Fisgard street, as their conduct was disgraceful.

Ald. Kelly directed attention to the conduct of certain hack-drivers. There are some men, he said, who are not fit to be licensed drivers, and their licenses should be revoked.

The Board then adjourned.

IMPERIAL FEDERATION.

To THE EDITOR OF THE TIMES:

SIR:—It is somewhat unfortunate that only a day's notice was given of the first meeting of the embryo Victoria branch of the Federation League. Many of our citizens who take an interest in the subject were consequently unable to attend. Some months ago I was requested, and agreed, to join the incipient organization; since then I have heard nothing of the movement, and received no intimation of last evening's meeting, except indirectly in conversation with Dr. McNaughten Jones, and later in the day, upon observing an advertisement in the Colonist. No doubt a number of citizens were left equally in the dark. In the report of the meeting I observe that Senator Macdonald expresses the opinion that the Victoria branch (may I assume the British Columbian) should become affiliated with the Canadian League. In this view I entirely concur. British Columbia is no longer a Crown colony, but a Province of Canada, a truism which British Columbians seem slow to realize. To government matters to-day communications to London must go through Ottawa, and in a question of sentiment, such as the idea of Imperial Federation, still remains, I cannot but think that our views should be expressed through the Canadian League, and will thereby be more likely to commend attention at the Colonial office. J. ROLAND HETT.

ESQUIMALT HARBOR.

The Defences Again Discussed in the British House of Lords.

Lord Sudeley rose in the House of Lords on June 29th to ask Her Majesty's Government what arrangements had been made with the Dominion Government of Canada for the defence of the naval headquarters in the Pacific, Esquimalt Harbor; and whether the plans for the fortifications and defences had been finished; when the work would be commenced and when the armaments would be sent out; and whether the Government would state by what date the fortifications would be completed and the guns placed in position. The House would remember, he said, that in the discussion which took place a short time ago the Government had stated that, after fully considering the rival positions of Esquimalt and Barrard's Inlet, they had, on the advice of their experts, decided to keep the naval headquarters at Esquimalt. He looked, therefore, upon the matter as finally settled, and much as he regretted it, he would not say another word on the subject. It was, however, of the utmost importance that now it was definitly arranged that Esquimalt was to be the permanent naval headquarters of our only naval station on the Pacific, that not a moment should be lost in putting the place, as far as practicable, in a proper state of defence, it being now absolutely undefended. There was also another point to which he desired to refer. It appeared that considerable alarm had been felt by people connected with Barrard Inlet, as the terminus of the Canadian Pacific railway, at the idea which had been conveyed during the discussion that Barrard's Inlet was not in any way protected. He had received information from an engineer officer of very high standing connected with the locality showing that from the mainland any attack could be easily repelled, as the attacking force would have to cross three rivers and an impenetrable forest. He hoped the Government would be able to say that they hoped to be able to place some guns at the entrance to the inlet, so that it might also be protected from the sea in the event of hostile ships passing Esquimalt and coming up to attack it.

Lord Knutsford said he had to inform the noble lord that no arrangement had as yet actually been made with the Dominion Government of Canada, but the scheme of the Government, which was explained some days ago when the noble lord brought this matter before this House, had been communicated to the Dominion Government by a dispatch dated the 13th of June. On learning from them that they assented to this scheme it would be proceeded with and no time would be lost. He might say that the guns and other armaments to be provided in this country were in a forward state of preparation, and there would be no delay on that score. As regards the last point alluded to by the noble lord, he thought that Barrard Inlet might rest satisfied with the statement which he had made on the subject in his despatch of the 13th of June—a statement which had the authority of both the military and naval departments. It would be observed that the proposed scheme of defence has been drawn up more especially with a view to the direct defence of the harbor of Esquimalt. Protection was, however, at the same time conferred upon the town of Victoria. When Esquimalt had been made into a strong naval base, the danger of attempting a bombardment of Victoria, which would be fruitless of all real military result, being so great as to render such a measure highly improbable. For similar reasons any hostile operations directed against Barrard Inlet and Nanaimo need hardly be anticipated. No naval commander would be likely to risk his vessels in the somewhat intricate navigation and the prevalent fogs which characterize the How Straits, leaving in his rear the strong strategic position of Esquimalt, serving as the fortified base of her Majesty's Pacific squadron. With respect to any fortifications by land, that was a matter which would receive careful consideration.

Chemainus Notes.

The long looked for bark the Bundaleer, arrived this forenoon, 17th inst., in tow of the steamer Pilot. The harbor of Chemainus at present presents a lively appearance. The sloop W. S. Gray is at present undergoing repairs prior to her trip up north. She is expected to be ready about the 21st inst., Capt. Sam Crooker having chartered her for the season. We wish him luck.

It is noticed that our esteemed friend, H. Bonsell, has been appointed one of our J. P's. Long may he live to act as such. Our mutual friend, Jas. McDonald has gone north to look after his logging interest.

It is said that the efficent telegrapher, Mr. E. Raymond, has leased the farm of Mr. Conway for a period of years, and it is also learned that he has or is about to take a partner for life. If he should do so he can depend on receiving a warm reception from the Chemainus brass band.

The energetic foreman, Mr. Hy. Ashly, for the firm of Messrs. Croft & Angus, went out on Saturday last on a timber hunt and it is learned that he has discovered some very fine yellow cedar which will be of great value to the Chemainus saw mill. He also saw plenty of game during the trip.

The Chemainus brass band are making great progress under the leadership of Prof. Quinn. They are open to any engagements.

There was quite a house warming at the residence of the 3rd candidate on the 14th inst., and quite a number of the Chemainus people were invited, amongst whom we noticed Mr. Whitehouse Brown, Cant. Wamock and Doole. The Miss Brestons from Oyster Harbor, were amongst the invited quests. All enjoyed themselves immensely and did not break up until the small hours of morning.

Our enterprising friend Mr. H. Semmer has just purchased a fine sloop and we are anxiously awaiting her arrival.

An Explanation.

What is this "nervous trouble" with which so many seem now to be afflicted? If you will remember a few years ago the word Malaria was comparatively unknown—to-day it is as common as any word in the English language, yet this word covers only the meaning of another word used by our forefathers in times past. So it is with nervous diseases, as they and Malaria are intended to cover what our grandfathers called Biliousness, and all are caused by troubles that arise from a diseased condition of the Liver which in performing its functions finding it cannot dispose of the bile through the ordinary channel is compelled to pass it off through the system, causing nervous troubles, Malaria, Bilious Fever, etc. You who are suffering can well appreciate a cure. We recommend Green's August Flower. Its cures are marvelous.

When Baby was sick, we gave her Castoria,
When she was a Child, she cried for Castoria,
When she became Miss, she clung to Castoria,
When she had Children, she gave them Castoria.

It cannot be said that the British people are not liberal in their encouragement of rifle shooting. The value of the prizes to be offered for competition at Wimbledon at the present annual meeting, which commenced on Monday, amounts to over $80,000, being the largest sum yet given. Of this sum $48,000, is given by the National Rifle Association.

I do not believe that Ayer's Sarsaparilla has an equal as a cure for Scrofulous Humors. It is pleasant to take, gives strength to the body, and produces a more permanent result than any medicine I ever used.—E. Haines, North Lindale, Ohio.

I have used Ayer's Sarsaparilla, in my family, for Scrofula, and know, if it is taken faithfully it will thoroughly eradicate this terrible disease.—W. F. Fowler, M. D., Greenville, Tenn.

For forty years I have suffered with Erysipelas. I have tried various remedies for my complaint, but found no relief until I commenced using Ayer's Sarsaparilla. After taking ten bottles of this medicine I am completely cured.—M. C. Amesbury, Rockport, Me.

I have suffered, for years, from Catarrh, which was so severe that it destroyed my appetite and weakened my system. After trying other remedies, without relief, I began to take Ayer's Sarsaparilla, and, in a few months, was cured.—Susan L. Cook, 900 Albany st., Boston, Mass.

Ayer's Sarsaparilla is superior to any blood purifier that I ever tried. I have taken it for Scrofula, Canker, and Salt-Rheum, and received much benefit from it. It is good, also, for a weak stomach.—Millie Jane Peirce, S. Bradford, Mass.

TO THE INCREDULOUS.

There was Never the Man Who was Fooled or Humbugged--He Humbugs Himself.

The human race affords in itself a most singular study. There are among the many class of thinkers, those who repose too much confidence in others, too little confidence in themselves, or no confidence in anything. The man who knows it all himself, the man who thinks somebody else knows it all and the man who thinks he knows who knows it all. The egotist, the simpleton and the skeptic. Recognizing the fact that people require more substantial evidence than mere words and promises, Drs. Darrin resort to the most legitimate method of advertising themselves by advertising their cures. That those among the community may be afforded an opportunity of investigating before calling in person upon the doctors, the following testimonials are published bearing evidence of the doctors' ability and skill as well as success.

DEAFNESS CURED IN TEN MINUTES.

Mr. Editor—Dear Sir: I reside in North Yakima, W. T. I consulted Drs. Darrin for deafness. My left ear was totally deaf. With one operation with Drs. Darrin's electro-magnetic cure, of ten minutes, I was made to hear as well as ever in my life. Can be referred to as to the truth of my statement.

C. V. FOWLER.

AN OPEN LETTER.

SEATTLE, W. T.

Drs. DARRIN—Gentlemen: I now take the pleasure of writing you that after a full course of your electro-magnetic treatment I am entirely cured of a pain in my chest which has troubled me for over eight years. Having been under treatment by doctors of Liverpool, Glasgow, Calcutta and San Francisco, none of them did me any good but I came under your treatment, which I am sure has permaneently cured me, for which, gentlemen, I beg to remain.

Yours gratefully,
WILLIAM LITTLE.

ASTHMA AND OPIUM HABIT CURED.

MR. EDITOR—Dear Sir: I have been troubled with asthma for the past thirteen months, so bad as not to be able to do a day's work, and have suffered "Torments of the damned." The paroxysms were so severe that my life was many thought to be despaired of. I had tried everything, and a great many physicians. In order to get relief I had to resort to morphine, until I had contracted the habit. I put myself under their electro-magnetic treatment. Now, after several treatments, I am entirely cured of my asthma and the morphine habit, and I have no craving for the drug. I can be referred to at the McKenzie House, foot of Marion street, Seattle, W. T.

H. A. JOHNSON.

CURE OF CATARRH AND VARICOSE VEINS.

TO THE PUBLIC: For ten years I have been troubled with a very disagreeable catarrh and bronchitis. I finally got so bad that I had to give up my business of ranching and riding for my stock. The catarrh extended to my lungs and stomach. My physicians gave me up as incurable. Last October I came to Drs. Darrin, and now, after three months' treatment, I consider myself so far restored as to be able to do all my own work. Before treatment I had to give up horseback riding, and could not attend to my stock at all; now I can remain in the saddle all day without fatigue. My wife had also been troubled with dropsy, milk leg and varicose veins, so she could only walk with the greatest inconvenience, and it was painful to the touch, and finally broke out in a running sore. Drs. Darring sent her medicines, and to our glad joy, she is entirely cured.

Refer to me at Sprague, W. T.

FREDERICK MOHS.

The above gentleman, Mr. Mohs, owns a farm of 2700 acres and hundreds of cattle and horses, and these statements coming from a man of undoubted integrity, and whose reputation for veracity is above suspicion; must be admitted as positively true.

SCIATIC RHEUMATISM CURED.

MR. EDITOR—Dear Sir: For nearly a year I have been afflicted with sciatic rheumatism, and was so bad as to be unable to sit upon a chair or to get around, and suffered tortures indescribable. I came to the Drs. Darrin, Seattle, W. T., and went under their electro-magnetic treatment and home treatment. I now consider myself entirely cured. Can be referred to at Port Blakely, W. T.

S. F. HOSKINSON.

DEAFNESS AND DISCHARGING EARS CURED.

TO THE PUBLIC: I have been troubled with deafness and a discharge of one ear for over twenty years, and have tried everything. I placed myself under the Drs. Darrin's electro-magnetic treatment and I am now cured of my long standing trouble. I cheerfully recommend the doctors to afflicted humanity. Can be referred to at Stuck Junction, W. T.

JOHN WOLFLIN.

OVERFLOWING TEARS CHECKED.

TO THE PUBLIC: For a number of years I have been troubled with overflowing of tears down my cheeks, and have been operated on a number of times by a physician without success. Called on the Drs. Darrin at the International Hotel, Cherry street, and they operated upon my eye, and I now feel great relief for the first time in fourteen years. I can be referred to at 1351 Railroad street, Tacoma, W. T.

MRS. A. J. QUENTAL.

A CERTIFIED CURE.

This is to certify that I have been troubled with weak eyes for over a year past, and with a constant pain over the eye and ball, and was almost blind at times. I went to Drs. Darrin and put myself under their electro-magnetic treatment, with the happiest results, as I consider myself cured. I can be gladly referred to at White River, W. T.

JOHN MULLEN.

OFFICE HOURS AND PLACE OF BUSINESS.

The Drs. Darrin are located at the International Hotel, Cherry street, Seattle, W. T. Consultation free.

CORNER LOTS.

BY ROBERT HOWE FLETCHER.

Tulita Anita de Lunavarita stood in the garden, picking lavender. Although the sun shone, and the waters of the bay sparkled, and the distant Coronados Islands and the hills of Mexico floated in a blue haze before her, Tulita had no eyes for the pretty picture. Her mind was occupied with weightier matters. Perhaps she was not even aware that she herself made a much prettier picture with her girlish figure relieved against the white adobe house behind her, and her shapely head poised on one side, as she critically examined, with her big dark eyes, each spray of lavender. She may even have been unaware that the young man walking on the other side of the road was evidently of this opinion, although when he made a misstep into a chuck hole full of dust, through having his eyes on her, Tulita's rosy lips puckered themselves up, and a suspicious little movement of her shoulders suggested that she was not entirely ignorant of the young man's mishap.

But, as has been said, her mind was engaged with weightier matters, and scarcely vouchsafing a second glance at the retreating figure of the young man, she entered the white adobe house. Placing her fragrant load upon a table, she took up an old copy of The Fashion Guide, which she had left face downward when she went to gather lavender, and consulted it with a studious frown. Then going to a chest of drawers, she procured some odds and ends of ribbons, and, seating herself with a business like air, proceeded, with many references to the instructions, to braid the sprigs of lavender together with the ribbons.

"These useful as well as ornamental little articles," the book said, at the end of its disquisition, "are rapidly becoming indispensable in every household. In fact, we know of several young ladies who derive a comfortable income from the manufacture and sale of lavender sticks."

"I don't know," said Tulita, to herself, as she regarded her first effort disparagingly, "it seems to me that anybody would be a fool to buy that. But, there," she continued, more hopefully, "you never can tell about these Americans."

And, proceeding with the work, she soon exhausted her lavender and ribbons, and had instead a neat little pile of "lavender sticks."

"Madre de Dios!" said Tulita, as with her chin on her hand she gazed at the result of her labors, "if that little mother of mine was to catch me at this, how quickly these things would go out of the window," and she laughed softly at the thought. "Although," she continued, "if she can do sewing for money, why should not I also work? At any rate, I must have one shoes, that is the truth." And thrusting her foot out, she leaned over the table to look at it. It was a dainty, slender foot with an arched instep, but the shoe upon it was unmistakably, hopelessly ragged. "Ah! go hide yourself," said Tulita, severely; "you make me ashamed."

Then sinking back on her chair, she rested her chin on her hand once more, and thought: "Ah, if only I could make enough to buy a pair of shoes." And after awhile a tear rolled down her cheek and fell on the lavender sticks.

But at this moment the click of the latch on the garden gate made Tulita spring to her feet. With a quick movement she swept the lavender sticks into a drawer, and when the new comer entered the room, Tulita was before the mirror singing to herself, while she braided her long hair, which had fallen as suddenly as a southern night.

"Is it thou, madre?" she said.

"Yes, it is I—all that is left of me," said the lady who had entered, a woman whose still handsome face was lined by grief and trouble. "Sainted Mother! but it is warm in the sun," she continued, fanning herself with that indolent, graceful sweep of the wrist peculiar to women of the south. Then, pausing a moment, she elevated her head and said: "What is that odor in the house, like sage brush?"

"Perhaps it is this bit of lavender," said Tulita, hiding her guilty face behind her hair.

"Faugh!" said her mother. "It is too strong. Throw it away."

And as she obeyed, Tulita's heart went down into her ragged boots at this unexpected disparagement of the odor of lavender. "Sage brush, indeed." It disheartened her so that the idea of attempting to "derive a comfortable income from the manufacture and sale of lavender sticks" was at once dismissed in scorn. Even the possibility of new shoes grew very faint.

But with the next morning's sun the hope and high spirits of youth returned, and when Tulita started to walk in to San Diego to make some purchases for her mother, the lavender sticks were hidden beneath her shabby little black mantle. Last night, after she had gone to bed, she had lain awake for at least an hour deciding where to offer them for sale. Senna & Squills' drug store was a favored place. It was on the principal street, and had fine large windows full of fancy goods. It would be a very simple matter to walk in and ask them to sell the sticks for her. Of course she would pay them something for their trouble. Then, too, she had heard that very morning there were an unusual number of eastern tourists in town, and she hurried her steps so as not to lose any chances.

But when Tulita came in sight of Senna & Squills' establishment her enthusiasm ebbed. She chided herself for walking so rapidly and getting heated and out of breath. What would the people in the store think of her? Slower and slower grew her pace, until, arriving in front of her destination, she stopped and looked at the display of fancy goods in the window. The comparison was not favorable to her lavender sticks.

"Perhaps, after all," thought Tulita, "the idea of anybody wanting to buy such things is absurd." Suppose Senna & Squills should laugh at her! She concluded to think about it a little more and walked on.

The further Tulita went, however, the more her courage returned, until, telling herself she was behaving ridiculously, she resolutely retraced her steps until the store was once more reached. But again she paused irresolutely before the window. Then she crossed the street to look in the window of a book store that might perhaps be better adapted to her purpose. Deciding against the book store, she returned to the drug store. Then the dreadful thought occurred to her than her movements must be attracting attention. The policeman on the corner had certainly looked at her very hard. What if he should speak to her! This idea was so appalling that Tulita hurriedly walked on the... without looking to the right or left. It was not until she had turned the first corner she came to that she recovered her equanimity. Then scolding herself severely for this panic, she continued on slowly around the block, until once more she found herself in front of Senna & Squills' establishment. Bracing up her treacherous courage with a great effort she walked in.

One of the clerks, observing the hesitation of a young and pretty customer, advanced toward her, and, in his suavest manner, said: "What can I do for you today, miss?"

"Is—a—is Mr. Senna in?" faltered Tulita.

"Mr. Senna, miss!" exclaimed the young man, with a look of surprise, "Mr. Senna is dead."

"Oh," murmured Tulita, "I am very sorry."

And, with burning cheeks, she found herself in the street once more. How far or where she walked after that Tulita was never quite sure. When her thoughts were sufficiently collected she discovered that she was in front of one of the principal hotels. She saw a news stand near the main entrance. On the impulse of the moment she stopped, and, opening her bundle of lavender sticks, she showed them to the proprietor and asked him if he would try to sell them for her. He was an elderly man, and while not enthusiastic over the prospects of a brisk business in lavender sticks, he was very kind to the girl and readily agreed to do all in his power to advance her little venture.

Rid of her bundle of lavender, which she had begun to hate, Tulita turned her steps homeward in high spirits. How easy it had been to arrange the matter, and what a little fool she was to have worried herself so. After all, though, it was much better that she had not left the sticks with Senna & Squills. This news stand was by far the best place, being right in the hotel, where the eastern tourists would be sure to see them. And Tulita fell to wondering whether the man would sell any that day, and how many, and how long it would be before they were all sold. And when she passed a shoe store she stopped and looked at the display in the window to see what kind of shoes she should buy—although, to be sure, the variety of shoes to be had for $3 was not great.

Meantime the newsdealer had sold all of Tulita's lavender sticks. Not that they had filled one of the public's long felt wants, for they had all been bought by one person, that person being Mr. Brown, of Philadelphia. Mr. Brown, while leaning idly against the news stand, had seen Tulita come up, and on getting a sight of her face had said to himself in surprise, "By Jove! That is the pretty girl I saw in the garden yesterday afternoon." And although he politely moved away out of hearing of the conversation, he furtively watched the pretty girl, and had no difficulty in understanding the nature of her transaction with the old newsdealer. "Hard up, of course," said Mr. Brown, sympathetically. Then as Tulita tripped away he returned to his lounging place by the news stand, and picking up one of the lavender sticks with an air of idle curiosity, asked what they were for.

Was Suicide Intended?

As the Nanaimo Express was on the way to the city yesterday a man was discovered lying on the track between Chemainus and Somenos. Engineer Garland was about to stop the train and have him removed when the party suddenly jumped up and ran into the bush leaving a hat and a bundle of clothes behind him. It is thought by some that suicide was contemplated, while most people find it difficult to find a reason for the strange action.

WESTMINSTER RAILWAY

The Contract Signed—Its By-Law to Be Submitted to the City at Once.

It is understood that the contract between New Westminster city and Senator Caufield, on behalf of the Seattle, Bellingham Bay and British Columbia Railway Company, has been signed. The by-law to raise a subsidy is to be submitted to the people at once, and within thirty days after its passage the work of construction to the boundary will be commenced. The Northern Pacific, it is believed, is guaranteeing the interest on the bonds. The construction of the New Westminster branch round to Vancouver will be commenced, it is said, before long, so that the prospects for the mainland cities is very promising. The Royal city especially seems delighted just now with its good fortune.

Married at Townsend.

James B. McIntyre, of Port Townsend, was married on Monday last to Miss Emma Dobbs. The bride was for many years a resident of James day and took part in numerous entertainments in this city. The TIMES joins with their friends here in wishing the happy couple a pleasant and prosperous journey through life.

Arrested for Vagrancy.

A man named Gassey was arrested this morning on a charge of vagrancy. He has been associating with the demimondes and was thought to be one of the men implicated in the late burglaries. He does not tally with the description given of the man seen in the localities robbed. His chum left for the Sound on the Alaskan this morning.

Getting Excited.

The poor old Standard is getting excited, and for once in several years it has published an original article. But getting excited is no excuse for becoming contradictory. Mr. Dunsmuir says that THE TIMES has been offered for sale to the government "at least half a dozen times." This is a falsehood, and its author (probably Mr. DeCosmos) is invited to either prove or retract the statement.

Provisions for the Circus.

Mr. Lawrence Goodacre has been awarded the contract for supplying Sell's circus with provisions, &c., for its men as well as meat for the animals. The company carries its own steward and boards its employees which are something like one hundred and thirty in number. The leading performers of course put up at hotels. It may be remarked that the advance agent of this circus does not require any advance on the completion of contracts like Mr. Vanderbilt, of swindling fame.

A Terrible Fall.

A young man named Scott fell from the roof of a building in Westminster on Monday. As he left the roof his head struck a projecting piece of timber, which caused him to turn twice before he struck the ground. After a close examination by Dr. Hall, it was found that both arms had been broken, one wrist had been dislocated and the other had suffered a compound fracture; a deep gash extended from the middle of the forehead to the top of the head, the face was badly cut and many bruises covered the body. The doctor says the case is serious, but that Scott will get round all right.

C. of E. Ladies Diocesan Auxiliary.

The ladies of the town who have patronized the sales of work of the Bishop Close working party will be glad to learn that it has not been suffered to fall to the ground since the death of Mrs. Hills. That lady, as is well known, for years sustained it mainly at her own expense. Upon her decease it was felt that so excellent an institution ought not to collapse, and that the best memorial to one who had taken so deep an interest in its welfare would be its continuance. A committee was formed with Mrs. A. N. Richards as president, and their first sale will be held in the Cathedral school upon Saturday next, July 21st, when it is hoped old friends will assist towards its successful inauguration under the new name.

OUR TOWN MAJOR.

The Imperial Federation League—Government Street Gooling, &c.

The meeting for the formation of an Imperial Federation League the other evening was fairly representative, although The Major unfortunately was not there. The presence, however, of the few ladies who graced the proceedings is a good omen for future success and shows that the fair sex at last have been aroused, if not taking part actively, to countenance the grand object of the meeting. The speeches, although few, had the right ring about them. Mr. Justice Gray referred to what the Canada rebellion of '37 accomplished for responsible government. It did more than that; it burst up the great family compact, monopolies in trade, in land, and in politics. The tide of public opinion forced the great Canadian Land Company to sell their lands—at least it placed the means of so doing in the hands of the people. The remarks of the Rev. Mr. McLeod about "coquetting with the people south of us," will, it is hoped, help to do away with the usual 4th of July bluster and splutter. We have a distinct nationality here; it must be cultivated and encouraged. The Major has often had it dinned into his ear, "Oh, we would be all right, could we trade with the States free." What do we have from the States that we could not manufacture or grow here? Very little, but a few boxes of peaches and grapes, and yet there are many that would consent to sacrifice their nationality for a mess of pottage! 'Tis true, O! Mr. B. W. Pearse, the lands are vested in the people. Capitalists, like the tailors of Tooley street, may well call themselves the people. Apart from other considerations the creation of a national sentiment here in British Columbia, and Victoria particularly, would be a grand step towards the modern civilization of this great country. Loyalty to the Dominion and the glorious Empire to which it is our proud boast to belong. The "League" has The Major's best wishes for its success. He's one in.

It was a pleasing sight to witness the tearing down of an old time rookery on Johnson street yesterday. The dust of ages very nearly smothered The Major as it toppled to the ground; the roof held intact to the last.

Visiting one of the brick yards up the Gorge road The Major found "Mr. John" busily engaged making brick for the Egyptians. As the Israelites of old grew fat on forced labor in the brick fields, so our friend John grows apace in flesh and pocket. The article turned out appeared of good quality, and reasonable in price, and would be found to be as cheap in building as lumber, paint taken into consideration. Brick buildings are taking the lead and if Victoria is progressing in anything this season it is in building, particularly of brick.

The fellow on government street, next the barber's, "Bummer No. 1," is mad. Is he the dramatic critic that copies those stereotype, unreadable, abominations that go to fill up the columns of the "sheet" who insults a great mass of the citizens by saying that "it was calculated to impress not only the people in the gallery, but the most intelligent people." So recollect you, gentlemen, who patronize the throne of the "Gods," you are not "intelligent," according to the dramatic critic of Government street. 'Tis to you, "ye Gods," that all great actors and actresses look, or have looked, for that applause and approbation which has been more service professionally than any criticism, venial or otherwise. The Colonist dead-head went into fits when the geese appeared on the scene, and when one flock of geese cackled to the other, only the geese on the stage appeared more natural in their novel position than their fellow geese from Government street sent to criticise their appearance. They knew each other and flapped their wings accordingly; the goose in the audience flapped and cackled the loudest. Jealousy is a great thing, especially when it secures hold of "Bummers," government newspaper or otherwise. You are jealous of The Major. There, how do you like it? and his popularity with the young and the old, the poor and the rich, egotistical he is and will be when any endeavor is made to steal his ideas and conceptions. You can't do it with impunity, be you mechanical editor, "ex-councillor" or any other "Bummer."

"Pa," says a little girl the other day, "have all the soldiers gone to the war to fight?" "Yes, dear, they've all gone." "Did the officers all go too?" "Yes, Major Peters and all the officers." "Yes, yes, pa, but I mean did our Major go?" "Why, child, who do you mean?" "I mean pa, our Town Major, of course, who else?" There's popularity for you, my aspiring young gosling on Government street, of which, no doubt, your whole flock, from the old gander down to the yellowest gosling, you will be jealous. Are the moral showers having effect? It would seem like it, from the remarks of Alderman Powell regarding certain houses in the Chinese quarter, and those of Alderman Kelly about the hack drivers' license. Who knows, good may come out of Egypt yet. But why should Alderman Powell confine his cleansing remedies to the Chinese quarter?

FROM THE ORIENT.

England Takes Possession of an Uninhabited Island—Cholera and Earthquakes.

An English man-of-war has taken possession of Chistmas Island, 200 miles south of Java. The island is covered by trees and jungle and is inhabited by an enormous number of pigeons and other birds and has valuable guano birds. A large party landed from the ship and found the island without inhabitants.

On June 7th a band of ten armed men attacked a Chinese bank at Foochow and succeeded in carrying away $3,000 in coin.

A form of sporadic cholera is prevalent in Hong Kong. Over 1,000 Chinese coolies were on St. John's Island, Singapore, on June 18th. They had been landed from the steamer Tai Chow and Duberg, both of these vessels having had cases of cholera on board during the passage from Swatow.

The Emperor of China has received twenty-four chests of tribute offerings containing beautiful porcelain.

A fire which originated in an oil shop destroyed sixty houses in Shanghai.

Oscar Hatfield, American Consul at Batavia, has been acquitted of the charge of complicity with alleged fraudulent transactions.

Several villages have been entirely destroyed at Bueleng, Java. Nothing is known of the loss of life.

A shock of earthquake was felt at Yokohama on the morning of June 19th.

Public School Examination.

On Friday, 29th June, the annual midsummer examination of the Cache Creek school was held, in presence of the Trustees and an unusually large number of visitors. The school room was handsomely decorated for the occasion, while suitable mottoes adorned the walls. The answering of the pupils in all the different branches upon which they were examined was excellent; especially their history, geography and arithmetic. At intervals during the proceedings Mrs. Irwin and a number of the children sang glees, which they rendered with good effect, and which was a very pleasant feature in the programme. A most enjoyable day was then brought to a close by speeches from the Trustees, expressive of their entire approbation of the way in which Mr. and Mrs. Irwin have conducted the school, and it may be added every person there heartily endorsed the sentiment. Amongst those present were Mr and Mrs Pennie, Mr and Mrs Stuart, Mr and Mrs Nilson, Mr and Miss Lehman, Miss Campbell, Mrs Haddock, Mrs Lyon, Mrs McLeod, Mrs Walker, Mrs C Semlin, P Parke, T H Parke, R T B Pinchard, T Margan, etc.

ANOTHER ROBBERY.

Mr. C. F. Beaven's Residence Burglarized this Morning.

Between 3 or 4 o'clock this morning a burglary was committed in Mr. C. F. Beaven's residence on Pandora avenue. The thieves entered at the front door which was left unlocked by a young man who was visiting a gentleman lodging in the house and by this means allowed easy access for the robbers. They ascended the stairway and entered the room of a young gentleman, relieving him of a watch and chain, a gold pin and about $50 in money. Attached to the watch-chain was a locket with two small pictures inside and a diamond on the outside. The money consisted of a twenty-dollar gold piece, a twenty-dollar bank note and silver. The bureau drawers were opened and the valuable portions of two sleeve buttons were taken from a pair of cuffs. The door of Mr. Kenning's room, adjoining was opened and a number of burnt matches were found inside the door. Mr. Kenning was awakened by a noise and seeing his door opened he jumped out of bed and shut it. He then returned to bed little thinking that thieves were at work around the place. The burglars also open the door leading to Miss Ellen Beaven's bedroom, but left everything untouched. The money stolen was in a pocketbook which they carried away. In returning down the stairs the burglars dropped the elastic band which was around the book. The key in the front door was broken off. A young man who left the house at 1 o'clock noticed a man on the street and persons in the locality saw a man loitering around for some days. A valuable dog was poisoned belonging to a resident on Quadra street a few nights ago. A suspicious looking individual loitering in the vicinity was spoken to by Mr. Moody some days ago and according to the description of men who noticed the individual, there is little doubt that he is the burglar.

PERSONAL.

Mr J C McLagan returned from Vancouver last night.

Speaker Mara left for Kamloops this morning per steamer Yosemite.

Judge Robt Dennistown, Mrs and Miss Dennistown, of Peterborough and Professor Strauss, Germany, are at the Rocca-bella.

The Rev. J. J. Lewis, of Boston, who is writing a book on the Dominion of Canada in general and the C. P. R. in particular, has returned east.

Mr Ralph Borthwick and Mrs Borthwick are at present in London and may be expected to return to this city in September next.

Ralph Brecken died at Charlottetown, P.E.I., recently, leaving an estate valued at $300,000 to his son, Rev. Ralph Brecken, Methodist Minister of Halifax, N. S.

Mr O Statnbury, B A, has resigned the principleship of Wellington school, which position he has filled so worthy for a number of years. He will shortly visit the old country.

The friends of Mr James Trow, one of the leading Liberals of Ontario, will regret to learn that his recent accident has been sufficiently serious to confine him to his bed ever since.

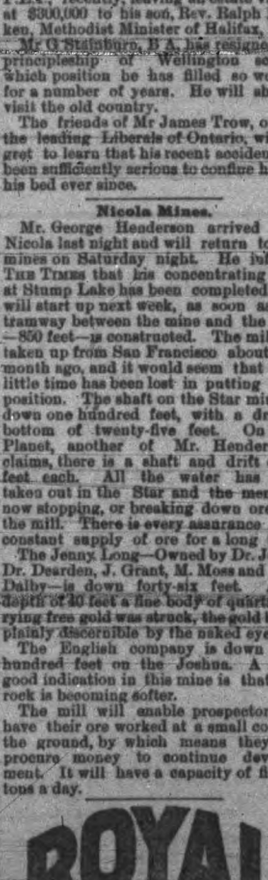
Nicola Mines.

Mr. George Henderson arrived from Nicola last night and will return to the mines on Saturday night. He informs THE TIMES that his concentrating mill at Stump Lake has been completed and will start up next week, as soon as the tramway between the mine and the mill—850 feet—is constructed. The mill was taken up from San Francisco about one month ago, and it would seem that very little time has been lost in putting it in position. The shaft on the Star mine is down one hundred feet, with a drift of bottom of twenty-five feet. On the Planet, another of Mr. Henderson's claims, there is a shaft and drift of 35 feet each. All the water has been taken out in the Star and the men are now stopping, or breaking down ore, for the mill. There is every assurance of a constant supply of ore for a long time.

The Jenny Long—Owned by Dr. Jones, Dr. Dearden, J. Grant, M. Moss and Wm. Dalby—is down forty-six feet. At a depth of 40 feet a fine body of quartz carrying free gold was struck, the gold being plainly discernible by the naked eye.

The English company is down two hundred feet on the Joshua. A very good indication in this mine is that the rock is becoming softer.

The mill will enable prospectors to have their ore worked at a small cost on the ground, by which means they can procure money to continue development. It will have a capacity of fifteen tons a day.



This powder never varies. A marvel of purity strength and wholesomeness. More economical than the ordinary kinds, and cannot be sold in competition with the multitude of low tests short weight alum or phosphate powders. SOLD ONLY IN CANS. ROYAL BAKING POWDER Co. 106 Wall Street, New York.

ATTACK ON A SEALER.

Bloody Collision Between Aleuts and the Crew of the Nemo.

A few days ago THE TIMES published a telegram stating that the crew of the British sealing schooner Nemo were fired upon and four men killed. The particulars of the collision were received in San Francisco on Saturday last by the steamer Belgic. The Nemo sailed from Yokohama on April 9th for the Behring Sea to hunt otter. On the morning of May 27th Captain Snow lowered three boats manned with Japanese. When approaching a large rock a murderous fire was opened on the boat in which Capt. Snow was by parties concealed behind some rocks on the cliff. One bullet struck Capt. Snow on the hand and shattered the stock of his gun. The captain then called on the men to pull out of range. The bullets then commenced falling like hail about the boat and several men were hit. Four men were lying dead or mortally wounded in the boat and Captain Snow had received two wounds before he succeeded in getting out of range. When they reached the schooner the boat was one-third full of blood and water. It was found on getting aboard the vessel that three men were mortally wounded. The first to die was the steersman who was shot through the backbone. Another died fifteen hours after getting on board, and a third six hours later. Capt. Snow was shot twice, one bullet passing through his left thigh and the other slightly wounding his hand. Over fifty bullets had left their marks on the boat. From the rapidity of the firing Capt. Snow believes the assailants numbered over a dozen. As to the motive he can assign no cause. The same natives committed a like outrage on the boats of the Diana about seven years ago, and have been allowed to go unpunished. On that occasion they suspected the Diana's boats were attempting to get seals, but on the present occasion they could have no such excuse, as it is a well-known fact that there are no seals in these waters for a month later.

On June 26th, a British Court of Inquiry was held at Yokohama; Captain Snow testified that he had indirect knowledge that the Aleuts were armed with Winchester rifles supplied by people in the employ of the Alaska Commercial Company who claim the right to use the Copper and Behring Island under a lease from the Russian Government. The assailants were Kossacks. The court, after hearing all the testimony of the captain and the sailors, found from the evidence that "the attack appears to have been entirely unprovoked."

TOWN MAJOR AND NUISANCES.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE TIMES:

SIR—In last night's issue the "Town Major" has something to say about the Board of Health and Nuisance Inspector and their duties. If the "Town Major" had been in the Police Court room the other day and had listened to the abuse given to the sanitary officer because he was doing his duty, he (the Major) would, if placed in a similar position, think that the sanitary officer has not such a delightful time as is imagined. If the "Town Major" would give his address it would enable the Board of Health to examine his place of abode, for possibly his own place of residence is not in as good condition as it should be.

McINTYRE & HEATH

Model ♦ Minstrels!

A Show of Greatness.
Something to Please Everybody.

It is the only Minstrel Show that will perform everything advertised and will freely forfeit $5,000 to any charity in the city if we do not carry out our promises to the letter. It is the only Minstrel Show in America that has Drummond and Howe, who have been surnamed by the Press as the "Kings of all Equilibrists." It is the only Minstrel Show with new features, new specialties and new novelties. It is the only Minstrel Show that does not employ broken down performers, who have been dropped by all first-class organizations. It is the only Show advertised here that has received the unanimous endorsement of the press wherever it has appeared, and we are prepared to substantiate this statement with both the documents and collaterals. Remember that McIntyre & Heath's Minstrels will exhibit their entire show, combined with Haverley's Original Company, which is positively the largest on earth, making Two Complete Shows in One.

Don't fail to see the Greatest of all Burlesques,

"She, or Scenes in Africa."
